

The Decatur Book Festival presents an opportunity for emerging writers.

If you are an author who would like to sell your book(s) at the festival, we now have a way for you to save money and get more out of your weekend with us. Rather than pay $450 for a booth and oversee it all weekend, you can spend just $175 for two titles ($50 for each additional title) by joining our Emerging Authors tent.

There, you can display your book(s) in a reserved, secure space where we handle your sales for you. You don't have to worry about credit card payments or maintain a cash box, you don't have to guard your stock all weekend, and you don't have to miss all of the wonderful speakers and events at the festival.

We'll even schedule a book signing and a brief speaking opportunity for you, if you wish. To register, please complete the information below and submit your payment per the instructions on this form.
